Who are you

We are the team of MADANA - Market for Data Analysis. We are changing the handling of today's data and bringing back control and privacy to the data producers. Our team consists of members who are working since 2013 in the Blockchain field.

We are techies, explorers, and early blockchain believers. Believers in a better future of privacy-preserving data analysis, complementing each other with a diverse skillset. Many of us met at RWTH Aachen University, one of the most famous Universities for Computer Science and Entrepreneurship in Germany. Our Berlin-based team is growing rapidly. Together we realize MADANA.

Why should we trust you?

Because we are transparent in what we are doing and working with public persons as well as institutions from science and politics to reach the goals of MADANA.
