

Why are you so close to politics?

We are very well positioned in the political area thanks to our advisors and it is of great importance when you are a company that drives a business model protecting the privacy of data producers. Particularly the European Union has a big interest in our endeavors as it is leading in pushing data privacy in the world.